Ro,

I would like to introduce True North's Logistics specialist Scott Bonnell who will be overseeing the logistical considerations as your equipment is delivered to its hosting location.

Minerva update as follows,

- Energy shortages in China were resolved as of last week and 1 of 2 assembly and testing facilities are now back online.
- Anticipated weekly deliveries to be prepared and shipped near the end of each week, with next shipment estimated at <5% of total deliverable order and ramping up, as our facilities come fully online from the shut down over the coming weeks.
- Link below announcing the successful release of chip supply
